The performance data quoted herein represents past performance. Past performance is not a guarantee of future results. The investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth less than their original cost, and current performance may be lower than the performance quoted. For performance data current to the most recent month end, please call 1.866.947.7000.

Returns greater than one year are annualized. Total returns assume reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions at net asset value when paid. Investment performance reflects contractual fee waivers. In the absence of such fee waivers, total return would be reduced. Investor Class shares charge up to a 0.25% annual shareholder service fee.

Market commentary

Equities continued to deliver strong returns during most of the second quarter as vaccination campaigns accelerated in most regions, facilitating easing of Covid-19-related economic restrictions. Despite the progress, the Delta variant of the virus and differing vaccination rates across geographies have resulted in an uneven recovery. The top performing markets in our investable universe were Brazil, Poland, Hungary, the Czech Republic, and Russia. The worst performing markets were Chile, Egypt, Peru, Pakistan, and New Zealand. The best performing sectors in the MSCI ACWI Index ("Index") were information technology, energy, and health care. The worst performing sectors were utilities, industrials, and consumer staples.

The Causeway Concentrated Equity Fund ("Fund") underperformed the Index during the quarter, due primarily to stock selection. Fund holdings in the software & services, insurance, technology hardware & equipment, and materials industry groups, along with an overweight position in the utilities industry group, detracted from relative performance. Holdings in the banks, media & entertainment, and capital goods industry groups, as well as an underweight position in the food beverage & tobacco and telecommunication services industry groups, offset some of the underperformance compared to the Index. The largest detractor was financial services technology company, Fiserv, Inc. (United States). Additional notable detractors included travel & tourism technology company, Sabre Corp. (United States), Takeda Pharmaceutical Co., Ltd. (Japan), mortgage insurance provider, Essent Group (United States), and electric, gas and renewables power generation and distribution company, Enel SpA (Italy). The top contributor to return was technology conglomerate, Alphabet Inc. (United States). Other notable contributors included pharmaceuticals & biotechnology company, Roche Holding AG (Switzerland), banking & financial services company, UniCredit S.p.A. (Italy), enterprise management software provider, Oracle Corp. (United States), and business software & services provider, SAP SE (Germany).

Risk Disclosures: Mutual fund investing involves risk, including possible loss of principal. Value stocks are subject to the risks that their intrinsic value may never be realized by the market and that their prices may go down. In addition to the normal risks associated with equity investing, international investing may involve risk of capital loss from unfavorable fluctuations in currency values, from differences in generally accepted accounting principles, or from economic or political instability in other nations. Emerging markets involve heightened risks related to the same factors, as well as increased volatility and lower trading volume. Investments in smaller and medium-sized companies involve additional risks and typically exhibit higher volatility. The Fund's concentration in a limited number of stocks will increase the impact of, and potential losses associated with, the risks from investing in those stocks.
