Investment objective

Causeway International Small Cap Fund seeks long-term growth of capital.

The Fund invests primarily in common stocks of companies with smaller market capitalizations located in developed and emerging markets outside the U.S. The Fund normally invests at least 80% of its total assets in equity securities of companies with smaller market capitalizations. Smaller market capitalization companies are companies with market capitalizations that do not exceed the highest market capitalization of a company within the Fund's benchmark, the MSCI ACWI ex USA Small Cap Index, at the time of purchase.

Fund features

- Actively managed, tracking-error oriented, quantitative strategy
- Combines bottom-up and top-down factors in security selection
- Supports strict risk controls in stock selection process
- Provides diversification benefits to a developed markets portfolio

The performance data quoted herein represents past performance. Past performance is not a guarantee of future results. The investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth less than their original cost, and current performance may be lower than the performance quoted. For performance data current to the most recent month end, please call 1.866.947.7000.

Returns greater than one year are annualized. Total returns assume reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions at net asset value when paid. Investment performance reflects contractual fee waivers. In the absence of such fee waivers, total return would be reduced. Investor Class shares charge up to a 0.25% annual shareholder service fee. High relative or absolute performance may not be repeatable.

The MSCI ACWI ex USA Small Cap Index is a free float-adjusted market capitalization weighted index, designed to measure the equity market performance of smaller capitalization stocks in developed and emerging markets, excluding the US market. The index is gross of withholding taxes, assumes reinvestment of dividends and capital gains, and assumes no management, custody, transaction, or other expenses. Indices are unmanaged and one cannot invest directly in an index.

Market commentary

Global equities declined again in the third quarter as many central bank authorities reiterated their commitment to fighting inflation rather than supporting economic growth. International smaller capitalization (“cap”) equities, as measured by the MSCI ACWI ex USA Small Cap Index (“Index”) outperformed their larger peers in the third quarter. Within small caps, emerging market (“EM”) stocks outperformed their developed market peers for the third quarter. This continues a year-to-date trend that has seen EM small caps outperform DM small caps by 6.9%. Thus, our overweight to Emerging Markets equities continued to add value in the quarter. From a sector perspective, the strongest performers in the Index were energy, materials, and financials. The worst performing Index sectors were real estate, communications services, and health care.

The Causeway International Small Cap Fund (“Fund”) outperformed the Index during the quarter. To evaluate stocks in our investable universe, our multi-factor quantitative model employs four bottom-up factor categories – valuation, earnings growth, technical indicators, and competitive strength – and two top-down factor categories assessing macroeconomic and country aggregate characteristics. Returns to our value factors were a negative indicator for the third quarter. The strategy’s earnings growth alpha factors posted positive returns in the third quarter. Our technical factors delivered the highest returns in the third quarter by a meaningful margin. These factors also have the highest returns over the year-to-date period. Our competitive strength factor category also delivered positive returns for the quarter. Our macroeconomic factors delivered positive returns in the third quarter as countries exhibiting superior metrics outperformed those with relatively weaker macroeconomic characteristics. Specifically, our macro indicators correctly predicted returns in Saudi Arabia, Poland, and the UAE, among other countries. Returns to our country aggregate factors were flat in the third quarter. All factor group returns remain positive from inception of the Fund (10/20/14) to the end of September.

From a sector perspective, Fund holdings in information technology, energy and consumer discretionary contributed the most to performance relative to the Index. Fund holdings in the materials, financials, and consumer staples sectors offset a portion of the performance. Relative performance for the quarter can be mostly attributed to stock selection. The top contributor for the third quarter was mining company, NEW Hope (Australia). Additional top contributors included software company, KPIT Technologies Ltd. (India), coal exploration & mining operator, PT Indo Tambangraya Megah Tbk (Indonesia), real estate company, JHSF Participacoes SA (Brazil), and financial services company, Haci Omer Sabanci Holdings AS (Turkey). The top detractor to performance was transportation company Kawasaki Kisen Kaisha, Ltd. (Japan). Additional top detractors included utility, Centrica (United Kingdom), real estate company, Kerry Properties Ltd. (Hong Kong), food retailer, GrainCorp Ltd. (Australia), and utility, Electric Power Development Co., Ltd. (Japan).

To determine if the Causeway International Small Cap Fund is an appropriate investment for you, carefully consider the Fund's investment objectives, risk factors, charges and expenses before investing. Risk Disclosures: Mutual fund investing involves risk, including possible loss of principal. In addition to the normal risks associated with equity investing, international investing may involve risk of capital loss from unfavorable fluctuations in currency values, from differences in generally accepted accounting principles, or from economic or political instability in other nations. Emerging markets involve heightened risks related to the same factors, as well as increased volatility and lower trading volume. Investments in smaller companies involve additional risks and typically exhibit higher volatility. Current and future holdings are subject to risk. Diversification does not protect against market loss. There is no guarantee that securities mentioned will remain in or out of the Fund.

A yield curve is a line that plots yields (interest rates) of bonds having equal credit quality but differing maturity dates. The slope of the yield curve gives an idea of future interest rate changes and economic activity. Alpha is performance in excess of a benchmark.

The market commentary expresses the portfolio managers' views as of the date of this report and should not be relied on as research or investment advice regarding any stock. These views and the portfolio holdings and characteristics are subject to change. There is no guarantee that any forecasts made will come to pass. Any securities identified and described in this report do not represent all of the securities purchased, sold or recommended for client accounts. The reader should not assume that an investment in the securities identified was or will be profitable. Diversification does not protect against market loss.
